TICKETS FOR HOME TALENT SELLING WELL

Quite a Rush for Advance Tickets for "Katcha-Koo" — Reservations Start Tuesday At Usual Place.

Tickets for "Katcha-Koo" are selling like hot cakes on a cold day—who has not heard of this brilliant spectacular and above all—unique production which is to be given January 26 and 27 at Washington Opera House as a benefit for American Legion. As the name implies "Katcha-Koo" brings with it the atmosphere of the far East. It carries the audience from the palace of the Maharajah of Hunga, an East Indian potentate, back to New York City. There is something doing every minute, those who have seen the rehearsals declare that such a thing as a "dull-spot" is positively unknown. In addition to the story itself, an hilarious farce-comedy, by the way, the pageantry, tableaux and scenic effects will leave nothing to be desired. And it is said by those who have had a peep "behind scenes" the costuming is really superb.

Mr. F. Diener and Mr. J. D. Keith, at the head of the local committee, are working hard. That the play, enlisting as it does, the services of the best talent in the city, and with an expert professional director in charge, will be an artistic success goes without saying, but there are other considerations of importance. It is the intention of the committee to sell every seat in the house for each performance. This means hard work on the part of all, but from present indications their desire will be realized and the American Legion will receive a nice sum as the proceeds from the play will be turned over to that worthy cause.

The cast for extravaganza is complete. Mr. Duane Rogers will be the flirtatious and love-making "Katcha-Koo," transformed by a magical garment from a Hindoo Fakir to this state of amorous sublimity.

Tickets may be reserved at Shaffer & Watkins after 10 a. m. Tuesday.

Especially interesting is the announcement that Miss Annabelle Hall will be seen in the role of solo dancer for the Veil Dancers.

Mrs. W. J. Caplinger, of East Second street, has as her guests her uncle, Mr. Joseph Strother, and her brother, Mr. Philip Strother, both of Louisville.

REVIVAL TO CONTINUE THROUGH THIS WEEK

Good Audiences at Christian Church Revival Sunday—Meeting to Be Held Every Night This Week.

The revival services now in progress at the Christian church will continue through this week. The interest in these meetings is fine and many people from outside Maysville and Mason county are taking advantage of the fine weather to come out and participate in these fine series of gospel sermons and the fine singing which helps to energize and make them successful in bringing souls to Christ. Very large crowds were out at both services Sunday, that at the evening service being the largest since the meeting began. The large auditorium was filled to capacity and the balcony took care of a large number.

The sermon subject for morning service "The Preeminence of Jesus" brought home to the audience in forceful but simple language the all powerful direction of the most high God in things universal. He it is who directs the stars in their courses, holds this old world of ours in its proper place in relation to other worlds and guides and directs the destinies of man. At the evening service the "General Judgment" was the subject for discussion and it was handled in an earnest and convincing manner. A number of young people made the good confession and were baptized at the evening service.

With such fine weather conditions this week promises to be the best of the meeting. Come all who will. You will be cordially welcomed. Every evening at 7:15 except Saturday.

CHICKEN FIGHT.

It is being quietly reported about that there was rather a lively chicken fight in this section Saturday evening which was attended by a large number of locals. Whether the attendants had much fun or not is not known but it is understood they all had much mud.

INTERESTING FACTS ABOUT EARLY HISTORY OF CITY RECALLED

Swarm of "Improvers" Invade Mason County in 1776—Visit of Lafayette and Death of Choctaw Chief Recalled.

The following interesting references to the early history of Maysville and Mason county are gleaned from a most interesting historical feature story by Col. "Jim" Mares in the Sunday issue of the Lexington Leader:

In the year 1776, what is now Mason county fairly swarmed with visitors and "improvers" from Virginia and Pennsylvania, in most cases of the latter class, many who came to select their future homes, while others "improved" for friends or for speculation. These improvements varied greatly, from deadening a few trees and marking initials upon them, up to a log cabin, sometimes covered with bark, but generally uncovered, clearing a patch of ground and planting corn. The men remained generally from two to four weeks. Two of these companies came in January. One, composed of David Perry, John Lafferty, Hugh Shannon (one of the company who, in June, 1775, had given the name of "Lexington" to the spot where this beautiful city was founded in 1779), Joseph Blackford and Joseph Warfield, improved on Lawrence Creek.

General Lafayette visited Louisville on May 8, 1825, and was enthusiastically received by revolutionary officers and soldiers, by the citizens en masse, and the city authorities. On May 14 he reached Frankfort, where he was met by seven military companies and a cavalcade of citizens. A grand dinner and public ball were given in his honor. May 15 he visited Versailles and Lexington, where his reception was equally enthusiastic. On May 21, General Lafayette and his son, Colonel George Washington Lafayette, and the Governor of Ohio reached Maysville on the steamer Herald. An enthusiastic reception and ovation were given them.

A line of stages was established, in 1824, from Maysville through Lexington and Frankfort; the trip required two days. Travel to Washington City took six days.

"Bishop" Alexander Campbell, of Buffalo, Virginia, was announced to preach at Maysville and other Kentucky points and at Ripley, Ohio, during September, 1824. William Littlell compiler of "Littlell's Laws of Kentucky," died; a great debate took place between Elder Alexander Campbell, reformed Baptist, and Rev. William L. McCalla, Presbyterian, on the subject of baptism; Mingo Puckshub, eighty years old, and senior chief of the Choctaw nation, while at Maysville, with a deputation of distinguished Choctaws on the way to Washington City, accidentally fell over a twenty-foot stone wall, which supported the river bank and was killed. He was buried with military honors by the largest concourse ever assembled at a funeral in that town.

A lottery was authorized to raise $5,000 to improve the road from Maysville to Washington in January, 1811.

Exceptionally good values in curtain marquisettes. Two-tone effects in blue, tan, rose, green or brown, reduced from 75 cents to 50 cents. A chance to anticipate spring furnishings at a saving of 33%. Hunt's.

JUDGE COCHRAN REMITS UNLUCKY MAN'S SENTENCE

Moonshiner Who Lost All in Big Fire Has Sentence Reduced By Federal Judge.

Atris Owen, a farmer of Bourbon county, who declared he was the "unluckiest" man in the world, lost his "jinx" at least for the time being Saturday when he was released from the county jail at Lexington where he had been placed to serve a sentence of six months, imposed by Federal District Judge A. M. J. Cochran for moonshining.

Owen was sentenced by Judge Cochran Wednesday afternoon. Wednesday night a barn containing Owen's half of a tobacco crop totaling more than 5,000 pounds was destroyed by fire. Owens had depended upon the money he would have received from his tobacco to support his wife and five small children while he was serving the jail sentence imposed by Judge Cochran.

When informed of the destruction of his tobacco crop at the county jail Thursday Owens declared he was the "unluckiest man in the world."

Saturday Judge Cochran, hearing of the misfortune which had befallen Owen, reduced his sentence to three days and he was released from the county jail. The third day of sentence ended Saturday.

MONEY BAGS FOUND HIDDEN IN SCHOOL HEDGE.

About three weeks ago the Maysville Street Railway and Transfer Company lost their cotton money bags used by the conductors on the local cars to turn their cash into the office. The bags were lost in a mysterious manner, being sent to the car barn from the office and having never appeared at the barns. They were empty and after a search failed to disclose them the matter was dropped and a new set of bags was made. A few days ago Mr. Ingram, custodian of the High School building discovered a small bundle tucked under the hedge on the Second street side of the High School and investigating found them to be money bags. It was learned today that the bags found in the school hedge are the missing street car bags. It is supposed the bags were dropped on the street and were found by someone who thought they might contain money and after learning they were empty had discarded them by hiding them in the hedge.

TOBACCO CROWDS MARKET; PRICES ARE SOMEWHAT EASIER

Highest Rush the Maysville Market Has Experienced in Years Is Now to Be Seen in the Warehouse District.

The Maysville loose leaf tobacco market is experiencing the greatest rush today it has experienced in recent years. All of the warehouses are crowded to overflowing and wagons are lined up in large numbers in front of all the houses. It is estimated that there is now enough tobacco in the city to run the warehouses through half of the present week and it is constantly arriving over all roads and the ferry boat is kept quite busy.

Tobacco men expressed the opinion this afternoon that today's market was just a little easier than the closing sale Friday although the growers seemed to be perfectly satisfied with the prices being obtained and apparently more than pleased with the prices the low grades were bringing today.

Sales were held today at the Central and the Amazon and buyers then went to the Planters and the Home, both large houses which will hold them all of today and much of tomorrow.

At the Central approximately 178,000 pounds was sold in a price range of from $52 to 50 cents while the Amazon sold 60,000 pounds. Because of the rush the buyers are speeding up considerably.

Here it is—the towel bargain you need. 20x45 Turkish towels, soft and absorbent, reduced to 75 cents pair. Hunt's.

MAGISTRATE'S COURT.

Squire Fred W. Dresel held his regular monthly term of civil court today and considerable business was transacted during the day.

TWENTY-FIVE KILLED IN MEMPHIS EXPLOSION

Tank in Oil Company's Plant Explodes Causing Great Terror and Many Deaths.

Memphis, Tenn., Jan. 24.—Twenty-five persons were killed in a series of explosions which wrecked the Sinclair Oil Co. plant here at 7:40 a. m. today, police estimated at 9:10 a. m.

Police and firemen, rushing to the scene at the first explosion, did heroic work in removing dead and injured from the wreckage.

They roped off streets two blocks away as precaution against a second series of explosions.

More than a dozen houses were blown up.

In one house a mother and five children were killed. It was reported.

One man reported he had counted ten dead bodies in the streets.

The majority of the victims are believed to have been negroes.

The explosions were caused by a spark from the chisel of a workman repairing a tank containing 15,000 gallons of gasoline.

No trace of the man has been found and it is thought he was blown to pieces.

Golf's Angora hraid, dyed in the wool, shrunk ready for use. One inch wide, 5 cents, formerly 15 cents bolt of 5 yards. Hunt's.

BRIGHT LITTLE GIRL DIES.

Ilma Tully, youngest daughter of Mrs. Ben P. Fleming, of Limestone street, died at the home of the mother this morning at 11 o'clock. The little girl was ten years of age and a very lovable child. She had been suffering from a deep cold for the past three weeks and last night developed double pneumonia which was the cause of her death. She is survived by one sister, Genevieve, two years her senior. The funeral will be held Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock and burial will be made in the Maysville cemetery.

SOLD BOYS MOONSHINE LIQUOR, IS THE CHARGE MADE

Eighteen-Year-Old Boy Is Arrested By Police on Charge of Selling Moonshine to Younger Lads.

Immanuel Lucas, eighteen-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. John Lucas, of Short street, was arrested by police this afternoon on a charge of selling moonshine whiskey to George Peterson and John Lovel, two lads much younger than Lucas.

Officers searched Lucas' home this afternoon but failed to find any liquor hidden there. He said he had purchased a quantity of moonshine from a man in Fleming county and on Sunday, the officers charge, Lucas sold a pint of moonshine each to Peterson and Lovel from which they became intoxicated. A quizzing of the two younger boys this afternoon disclosed the fact that they had purchased their liquor from Lucas who was immediately arrested.

An examining trial will be held before Police Judge John L. Whitaker Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

MUCH DISSATISFACTION ON SMALLER MARKETS.

Growers delivering their tobacco here today report considerable dissatisfaction on the smaller markets in this section. Quite a bit of the tobacco delivered here today was brought from the smaller markets, where the prices were lower and much unstandard than here.

OUR POLICY

To support such measures as are unquestionably for the good of Mason County as an entire community, rather than such propositions as are in favor of the individual interest, or of one section as against another. And likewise to earnestly and consistently oppose all things that are not for the good of the County as a whole.

DEMOCRATIC HINDSIGHT.

True statesmanship sees coming events and prepares for them. Republicans have been warning the country of the disastrous effects of continuation of the Democratic administration with its free trade policies, and the voters would have thrown the Democrats out in 1916 but for the false and deceptive slogan "He kept us out of war." The Democrats could not see the folly of their ways, and went into the campaign of 1920 with a free trade plank in their platform. The Republicans with manifestation of true statesmanship, renewed their declaration of advocacy of the protective tariff. The country went overwhelmingly Republican, but the election came too late to save the farmers from the evils of large importation of foreign grain, wool, cattle, vegetable oils, and the like.

Now comes the Democratic Tariff Commission with what is practically an admission of its own incompetency. In a special report on agricultural staples, issued on January 6, 1921, the commission says:

"The recent rapid growth in the receipts of foreign foodstuffs has attracted widespread comment and has been the cause of tariff agitation by farmers and allied interests. The subject has been injected into the current political situation, and this report is therefore timely."

"Timely," indeed!

Timely it may be from the standpoint of history, but scarcely from the standpoint of statesmanship. If the Tariff Commission were to serve any really useful purpose, its members should have foreseen the "rapid growth of receipts of foodstuffs" and should have warned the farmers of the country and the legislators and the Democratic President what to expect. A warning of that kind, coming from a commission of his own appointment might possibly, though not probably, have induced the President to alter his attitude toward a protective tariff and to indicate his willingness to sign a protective measure if enacted.

The Democratic Tariff Commission is a marvelous agency for telling the farmers how they were ruined, after the destruction is over, but it seemed to be without vision or voice when there was need for warning in advance.

NOT EMBARGO, BUT PROTECTION.

The President of the Federal Reserve Board, W. P. G. Harding, takes an optimistic view of the business situation. Not that he is satisfied with its present expression, but because he is confident in its future development. He is sure the way is so far cleared of obstacles that approach to prosperity can be safely negotiated through practiced conservatism properly stimulated by the spirit of progression. But he is of opinion that the situation is still sensitive to sudden jars and for that reason advises that proceedings be calm, deliberate and smoothly composed.

In his review of Mr. Harding's survey of the present conditions and future prospects David Lawrence through his special correspondence to The Commercial Tribune translates Mr. Harding's caution as having direct application to restraint in emergency tariff enactments. Mr. Harding holds that our domestic business must evolve its recovery in company with our foreign business. The foreign market must be rehabilitated before the domestic market can function normally. Therefore, we must buy foreign goods. This principle precludes the establishment of embargo by tariff discrimination.

There is no disagreement with Mr. Harding's general premises. These have been presented quite universally by business engineers. The point of divergence is the protection of American production. We must buy from abroad and we must sell abroad as conditions precedent to a re-establishment of world business. And the rehabilitation of world business is essential to domestic business normalcy. But we must sell at some profit at home and abroad, and we must protect home industries from the influx of cheap competition from Germany and elsewhere that may flood the home market to the detriment of home production and the disintegration of home industries.

COAL PLENTY VERSUS COAL PRICE.

The Senate Manufacturers' Committee has been informed by the Directors of the Geological Survey that the United States has half the world's bituminous coal supply. But what's the use? The price would indicate that this fact enters no figure in the cost, which in itself at present constitutes an arbitrary limitation to the consumer. Thus is a scarcity indicated when according to the expert testimony the supply is ample for thousands of years. Coal has become more than a commodity. It is an absolute essential to the conservation of industry, commerce, and in large measure human life. That being the case, if we have half the world supply, and the world supply is ample beyond estimate of years, who is running the corner that is holding up the price?

Coal simply exists in the ground as far as its production is concerned in relation to man's effort. The digging and distribution control cost of marketing and should control cost to consumer. Because it is essential to human living in modern conformity coal, it is expertly determined, falls within the public utilities class. Somewhere along the line of its handling from mine to furnace the spirit of profiteering has so arbitrarily increased its ultimate cost that governmental supervision has come to be regarded as necessary for public protection. Hence this present survey through Senatorial inquiry.

WOODROW'S WAY.

Recently an elevator was installed in the Presidential yacht Mayflower in the belief that Mr. Wilson might make use of it. The cost of installation was $16,000. Mr. Wilson never stepped inside it. It is now being removed at a probable cost of another $16,000. This is one of the minor items of expense that the retiring administration has loaded upon the country.

Miss Alice Robertson, Oklahoma's new Representative in Congress, recalls pleasingly in reminiscence that when her great-grandfather was ordained for the ministry his hospitality included the opening of three barrels of whisky for the proper spiritizing if not spiritualizing of the congregation, which is more than Miss Robertson's hospitality will be lawfully permitted to include upon the occasion of her induction into Congress, and one wonders whether or not to her regret.

DAYS OF DIZZINESS.

Come to Hundreds of Maysville People.

There are days of dizziness; Spells of headache, languor, backache;

Sometimes rheumatic pains; Often urinary disorders.

Doan's Kidney Pills are especially for kidney ills. Endorsed in Maysville by grateful friends and neighbors. Ask your neighbor.

Mrs. J. W. Ishmael, 225 East Fifth street, Maysville, says: "I had been a sufferer from kidney trouble for many years. I think I inherited it as my mother died of dropsy. My kidneys were in a weak condition and at times they acted too often. My back ached terribly and it broke my rest at night as the misery was still there. I had dizzy spells and could see flashes before my eyes and everything turned black before me. A friend told me about using Doan's Kidney Pills with benefit so I sent to Swift's Drug Store and got two boxes. After using them I got better and have felt like a different woman ever since. I can't recommend Doan's too highly."

Price 60 cents, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy — get Doan's Kidney Pills — the same that Mrs. Ishmael had. Foster-McMillan Co., Mfrs., Buffalo, N. Y.

SUGAR AT $375 A POUND.

Sugar is down and the housewife rejoices. But let her try to buy a pound of dulcitol, or mannose, or xylitol, or inulin, or any of the three or four other varieties of sugar, and she'll have to pay from $75 to $375 a pound.

These are all sugars, and all in frequent use, and the American chemist has freed us of our dependence on Germany for them. Their chief use is in bacteriology. One of them is indispensable in the detection of typhoid as the organisms of that disease are so fond of it that they naturally select it and so multiply upon it that their presence can readily be detected. The military hospitals of the United States relied upon members of the American Chemical Society to cooperate in the making of rare bacteriological sugars for typhoid work and, according to a bulletin issued recently by that society, these efforts soon proved successful. Other rare sugars are used as guides in the detection of cholera germs. — The Nation's Business.

New York Letter

By Lucy Jeanne Price

New York. — This girl tried the salesman's plan of "talk fast and get away with it," only she put the burden on her companion. The two attractive girls were sitting in the hotel lounge. "Now when father comes," said the nervous one, "you talk to him hard. Maybe then he won't notice how short my dress is or that I haven't spots on." Her friend agreed. "But WHY do you wear lace stockings when you have a cold already?" she queried. Only a shrug answered this. The father arrived. The loyal friend talked as volubly as possible and as interestingly. Father listened politely. But as they started toward the dining room he said to his daughter, "Well, I see you are wearing the summer screens."

Some people may have sufficiently unkind and vindictive minds to get some enjoyment out of the story of the man who has made his specialty the robbing of taxi chauffeurs. Michael McDonough is the name he gave when he was finally arrested and he is a most polished looking person. He was refined and nice in his work, too. He always wore evening clothes and after driving to a quiet part of the city, asked the chauffeurs to step into a hallway to be paid. Then, with a gun, he relieved them of their wealth, smiled at the meter and let them drive on.

Another theatrical comeback. Beginning early next month, Grace George will do several plays for matinees at the Playhouse. The first will be "The New Morality," by Harold Chapin, a young Englishman who was killed in the war. In resuming her activities as actress-manager, Miss George is carrying on the repertory project she established with her Playhouse Company. The second play will be from the French.

If Capt. Earl T. Daab, of Jersey City, doesn't believe in charmed lives, he is an unappreciative creature. Having come safely through the Spanish and the World War may not be so much of a feat. Others accomplished that, too. But after the armistice was signed and Captain Daab was securely home again, last summer, he broke his neck. In three places! The atlas bone and the axis bone and another comparatively unimportant one were all fractured. And Capt. Daab, who is 50 years old, has had the braces taken off and is quite fully recovered, thank you.

There is a whole town in one New York building; school house U. S. Postoffice, clubs, theater, express office, general store, everything. It could be sealed up tight and its inhabitants go on with a comfortable normal life. The Seamen's Institute, it is called, down on South street and Coenties Slip. The only qualification for residence in the "town" is that one must be an active merchant seaman.

Artists are not necessarily so aesthetic that they lack brawn. One of the best known painters of pictures in New York was moving into a new home in the suburbs the other day. Two piano movers were trying to get his grand piano into place. But it was too much. They told him they would have to have to go after another man to help them. When they returned, the artist was just easing the piano down from off his back onto the spot where it belonged. Then he fired them; and they put up no argument at all.

Little green tickets, once worth a total estimated in hundreds of thousands of dollars, have been burned in New York since the first of the year. Their burning marked the end of the

"A few minutes more, Peggy dear, and Daddy will be back with the Kemp's Balsam. Then you can go to sleep and forget that horrid cold cough."
KEMP'S BALSAM
Will Stop That Cough

hopes of thousands of poor people that the German government would ever do anything toward a resumption of the lotteries in which the tickets represented "stock." Up to within a few months of the war, they were smuggled into this country by the thousands and sold throughout the city. Then the war put the agents out of business, and they just left, with the money in their pockets.

Eva Puck, playing a shopgirl in "Irene," took a job as one in order to get "atmosphere." Four girls working with her interested her so that she built her part as a composite characterization of the four. Now they go a month to see the comedy and have supper with Eva afterward and tell her where she's wrong.

LUCY JEANNE PRICE.

TWO NEW HALF DOLLARS.

Conventional designing marks and somewhat naive the latest souvenir half dollars—The Maine Centennial and the Pilgrim Tercentenary coins, says the New York Herald.

If there is little inspiration, there is at least a befitting simplicity in the symbols chosen for the Pilgrim issue. On the obverse is the bust of a Pilgrim, styled "Governor Bradford," and on the reverse a side view of the Mayflower. The details, however, have been well drawn by Cyrus Dallin, the Boston sculptor.

Complaint has been made in a recent number of the Numismatist by Horace L. Wheeler of the Boston Public Library, that the Mayflower is not correctly rigged. Mr. Wheeler objects to "the triangular sail above her bowsprit. She flourished in a much too early era to have a jib. There is no probability that a seagoing vessel of Stuart times had any but square head-sails. These were bent to yards depending from the bowsprit or to a topmast rising from it; and they continued in use into the nineteenth century. The model of a seventeenth century ship in the Philadelphia Commercial Museum shows both sprit and sprit-topmast sails, and a good probable picture of the Mayflower herself is Halsall's, which hangs in Pilgrim Hall of Plymouth."

Around its upper circumference the obverse of this coin is inscribed "United States of America," round the lower circumference, "Pilgrim Half Dollar." Behind the head the motto "In God We Trust" is recorded as two lines. "Pilgrim Tercentenary Celebration" curves above the Mayflower; below appears the dates "1620-1920."

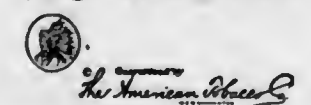

The National Shawmut Bank of Boston is official distributing agent. No one will dispute the accuracy of the crowded design upon the reverse of the coin struck to mark the hundredth anniversary of the admission of Maine to the Union—"E. Pluribus Unum" above "Liberty" a little lower, then "Maine Centennial, 1820-1920" within a heavy wreath whose lower border is partly rimmed with the motto "In God We Trust." The rather more attractive front design shows the pine tree and the deer of the state arms within the essential certificate, "United States of America—Half Dollar."

The State Centennial Commission is distributing these coins through the banks at the customary price of 5¢ each.

As a general rule it is accepted that the deeper a coal mine the more dangerous is the coal dust.

How One Woman Helped Another

Foley Kidney Pills are bought in every state in the Union by men and women on the recommendation of those who already have been relieved of kidney trouble and bladder ailments by this sterling family remedy. Comparatively little advertising has been done for Foley Kidney Pills, yet they are well known, and those who know their splendid healing properties never accept an imitation or substitute for the genuine Foley.

Pains Banished; Health Restored
"In September, 1913, I was stricken with lumbago and was unable to turn myself in bed. I was under the care of a physician but obtained no relief. A neighbor brought me a half bottle of Foley Kidney Pills; and she had been similarly afflicted and they had relieved her. So I tried them, and after taking three bottles was well and on my feet. I most heartily recommend Foley Kidney Pills. I have never known them to fail."—Mrs. G. H. Eveland, Duncan Mills, Ill.

FOLEY KIDNEY PILLS
aid and assist nature. They strengthen and invigorate weak or diseased kidneys and help to keep the blood clean and pure, relieving backache, rheumatic pains, lumbago, stiff or swollen joints, sore muscles, puffiness under the eyes, headachiness, and other symptoms of kidney trouble or bladder ailments.

ATTRACTIVE SHELVES FOR YOUR BOOKS.

Good housekeeping says the building in of book-shelves is a fascinating pastime, and it is astonishing how many waste spaces can be reclaimed and made useful by this means. For example, on one side of my fireplace there used to be an ugly closet, but I removed the door and filled in with shelves flush with the inner molding of the doorway. These were stashed to match the woodwork and now makes a capacious bookcase.

If you plan to run book-shelves around the walls of your living-room, it is important to make them of the right height, for nothing makes a sharper line on the wall, or calls attention more loudly to the proportions of the room. It is not a good plan to divide the wall equally; the top of the book-shelves should be distinctly above or distinctly below the middle of the space.

If you have books enough to fill only two cases, a large reading or writing table can be placed along the wall between them, with a good light upon it, so that as one writes, the most needed books are within easy reach. An ingenious addition of little shelves on brackets around the ends of the bookcase holds many an extra volume, when space is at a premium.

Light mahogany or walnut stands to hold books and magazines are always a joy, for one can move them about near a divan or a favorite easy chair.

MEXICANS GREAT WALKERS.

There is a saying in Europe that the Spaniards are the champion walkers of the world, and certainly their descendants in America, the Mexicans are the champions of the New World, writes a traveler. "Three nights every week there is a concert in the main downtown plaza in Monterey, and nearly all the Americans in town, including many big, husky transients on the way to or from Tampico, sit on the park benches and watch in wonder while the Mexicans walk."

All the young people in town, it appears, walk around and around and around that plaza; the boys in one direction, while their parents and chaperones and a few aged people share the benches with the husky Americans.

An American engineer connected with one of the big mining companies there estimates that three laps around that plaza made a mile, and asserts that he has seen more feather-weight scotchmen make as many as thirty laps in an evening and come up smiling for more at the next concert. The concerts are a stimulus to the promenadeers, and the promenadeers change costumes as often as possible. The concerts are a stimulus to the promenadeers, and the promenadeers change costumes as often as possible.

One never sees couple of opposite sex making that circuit unless they are formally engaged or are accompanied by a chaperon. But boys in pairs or groups and girls in other pairs or groups may be seen walking there any evening. On nights when there are no concerts, however, they do not walk steadily by the hour, but just reel off five or six miles to keep in practice.

These plaza parades are the fashion show of Monterey, as they are of hundreds of towns in interior Mexico. Every promenadeer is dressed in his or her best and tries hard to make a graceful appearance. There the styles are shown and studied, and the promenadeers change costumes as often as possible. The concerts are a stimulus to the promenadeers, and the promenadeers change costumes as often as possible.

In striking contrast to the handsome costumes worn by the promenadeers is the ruggedness of the boot-blacks, hundreds or more of whom infest the plaza every concert night, for of course all who walk must have their boots polished.

MORROW ORDERS INVESTIGATION OF NIGHT RIDING

Masked Men in Bath, Fleming and Montgomery Counties Warn the Growers Not To Sell 1920
Crop.

Frankfort, Ky., Jan. 23. — "There will be no night riding while I am Governor of Kentucky. However, I do not care to make any further statement at this time," Governor Edwin P. Morrow declared tonight. Governor Morrow declared that an immediate investigation will be ordered of the occurrences in Bath and Fleming counties, and said that he would take the matter up immediately with the county officials, who he thought to be the proper persons to discuss the situation with. Governor Morrow also stated that he would request reports of the investigations made.

"When I become thoroughly familiar with the situation I will be able to make a statement as to what the policy of the administration will be," Governor Morrow added.

Lexington, Ky., Jan. 24. — Masked men, heavily armed, dashed through portions of Bath and Fleming counties on horseback late Saturday night and early Sunday morning and warned tobacco growers to haul no more tobacco to the Carlisle and Flemingsburg markets.

The nightriders also threatened violence if the farmers visited disobeyed their orders and demanded that no preparations be made for planting burley tobacco this year.

Reports of the activities of the nightriders were received Sunday from Mt. Sterling, Carlisle and Flemingsburg. Two towns were visited by the nightriders—Sherburne, in Fleming county, 12 miles from Flemingsburg, and Bethel, in Bath county, 11 miles from Carlisle.

Reports concerning the activities and number of the nightriders conflict. From Flemingsburg, it was reported that in Sherburne there were from 25 to 30 men, mounted on horseback. The reports from Carlisle state that the group of men that visited Bethel was composed of 19 men on horseback and four unmounted.

According to news received in Lexington, 15 or more farmers were visited by the night riders during their sweep along the county lines of Fleming and Bath late Sunday night confirmation of six visits made had been received.

At 11:30 o'clock Saturday night, according to the reports from Carlisle, the nightriders appeared at the home of T. S. Robertson, of Bethel, a wealthy farmer and extensive grower of tobacco. They called Mr. Robertson from his house. Four men on foot with their backs turned toward Robertson, addressed him and told him not to haul any of his tobacco to the markets and sell it, not to rent any of his farms for tobacco production during the coming year and not raise any of the leaf himself.

Should he fail to follow these instructions, the nightriders, it is said, threatened him with violence and destruction of his property.

The men then went to the home of Thomas Crouth and repeated the warnings that they had made at the home of Robertson. The men also visited the homes of a man named Stevens, near Bethel, and Jake Boyd. At these places the same warnings were also given.

The number of men that visited the Robertson home and the other three farmers near Bethel was estimated at 23. Nineteen of these were mounted and four were afoot.

The party next went to Sherburne, in Fleming county about 12 miles from Flemingsburg. Here they visited the homes of two men, Mr. Shields and Mr. Tomlin, owners of trucks, who haul tobacco crops to the surrounding markets for the farmers.

COUNTY TAX COMMISSIONERS ARE NAMED.

County Judge H. P. Purnell today named the following citizens as Tax Commissioners or Supervisors for the 1920 county assessment: Messrs. W. D. Frazier, Dover; John Laytham, Mayslick; Ed. Kennard, Murphysville; W. W. Robb, Helena; David Campbell, Orangeburg; J. W. Downing, Washington; James M. Rains and Henry Gable, Maysville. These supervisors will meet on the second Monday in March to go over and equalize the county assessment as returned by Assessors Brady.

EVIDENCE EXPECTED IN WINNEN CASE TODAY.

Harrison, Ky., Jan. 24. — Testimony in the trial of Dr. H. C. Winnen, former Kentucky state veterinarian, charged with murder of Miss Laura Parsons, Pine Mountain Settlement School teacher, is expected to start this afternoon.

A special venire of 100 men was examined in the morning, and it was practically certain the four jurors needed to complete the panel, would be selected by noon.

AUTO CONTAINING SIX PLUNGES INTO RIVER.

Chicago, January 24. — A big black automobile, which is believed to have held six persons when it plunged into the south branch of the Chicago river, is the object sought today by police equipped with grappling hooks.

Thomas Hanlon, watchman for an engineering company nearby told the police that he saw the automobile, traveling at high speed, swerve off Twenty-second street and plunge into eighteen feet of water.

ADMINISTRATORS OF MISS OWENS ESTATE.

In the Mason County Court this afternoon Messrs. E. T. Kirk and W. W. Ball, Jr., were appointed administrators of Miss Annie L. Owens, deceased, and they qualified as such with J. M. Hunt, W. W. Ball, E. C. Myall and C. E. Galbraith as sureties on bond. Messrs. Bland Kirk, E. H. Bryant and A. H. Howard were appointed to appraise the estate.

Copies of the Public Ledger of January 4, 1921, afternoon edition.

Mr. O. W. Shelton, of Hickory Ridge Ohio, was brought here Sunday evening and admitted to Hayswood hospital to undergo an operation for appendicitis.

The Eleanor Wood Bible class social will meet with Mrs. Clarence Wood in West Front street Tuesday evening at 7 o'clock. A full attendance is desired.

The ashes of Mrs. Hettie Turnipseed, who died at her home at Seattle, Washington, were buried in the Maysville cemetery Saturday.

The usual number of local merchants and traders were in Flemingsburg today attending the monthly stock sales.

COLORED CITIZENS.

Mrs. Charlotte Thomas, a highly respected citizen of East Fifth street, died Sunday afternoon about 4 o'clock of infirmities due to advanced age. Mrs. Thomas was better known in the Mayslick neighborhood where she was born and reared and lived until about four years ago when she became a citizen of Maysville. She was a member of the Baptist church, lived a consistent christian life and was loved and respected by all with whom she came in contact, both white and colored. She is survived by three sons, Messrs. Malt Thomas, of this city, Henry P. Thomas, of Utah, and Luther Thomas, of St. Louis, Mo., and a number of relatives who will miss her. The funeral will be held at Mayslick Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock, conducted by Rev. R. Jackson of the Bethel Baptist church.

The Kentucky Sunday School Association is sending to all Sunday school officers their plans for a three-months campaign for the building up and improvement of Kentucky's Sunday schools. The campaign is as follows:

February is to be devoted to improving the Sunday school.
March is to be given to an effort to win each Sunday school pupil to Christ and church membership.

April is to be the month of bringing in new members.

And May first is to be the community-wide go-to-Sunday-school-day.

February, the month of improvement. The good old-fashioned Sunday school virtues need to be cultivated all the year round, but a month of special emphasis may help to tone up the school wonderfully. Let each school work along these lines: attendance, punctuality, lesson study, bringing Bibles, number making offering, number attending other church services. Maysville and Mason county schools — always loyal — will at once fall in line and work for greater successes than ever before achieved.

Men's closely woven, elastic, perfect fitting unions reduced from $3.00 to $1.75. Hunt's.

Miss Florence Vimont, of Millersburg, is the guest of her sister, Mrs. W. A. Munzing, of Limestone street.
